

Customer Shopping Behaviour & Growth Opportunity Analysis

A retail company wants to better understand its customers' purchasing behaviour in order to identify growth opportunities, improve customer engagement, and optimize promotional and product strategies.

Management wants to understand:

"How can the company use customer shopping behavior, product performance, subscription status, and promotional data to identify growth opportunities and make better customer and product decisions?"